

Education Pathways and Programs

School	Pathway/Program	Description
Bullard High School	Teacher Academy	The Teacher Academy develops and supports high school students through their journey of becoming highly effective educators. The program offers a cohort model of learning and provides students exposure to careers in education through an integrated approach of academic and technical courses.
CART	Psychology and Human Behavior Lab	Students investigate the inner workings of the human mind on both physiological and chemical levels. Students explore the workings of their own minds while learning why people behave the way they do. Students consider what influences behavior, and how behavior is controlled, changed, and modified.
Edison High School	Teacher Academy	The Teacher Academy develops and supports high school students through their journey of becoming highly effective educators. The program offers a cohort model of learning and provides students exposure to careers in education through an integrated approach of academic and technical courses.
Hoover High School	Teacher Academy	The Teacher Academy develops and supports high school students through their journey of becoming highly effective educators. The program offers a cohort model of learning and provides students exposure to careers in education through an integrated approach of academic and technical courses.
McLane High School	Teacher Academy	A pathway preparing students for a career in education and child development by offering internships in roles such as a paraprofessional, tutor, and peer mentor while providing students with college preparatory academics for multiple options after graduation.
Roosevelt High School	Teacher Academy	A CTE program for students interested in working in the field of education, offering real-world educational opportunities for students to learn through meaningful work-based experiences.
Sunnyside High School	Teacher Academy	The Teacher Academy develops and supports high school students through their journey of becoming highly effective educators. The program offers a cohort model of learning and provides students exposure to careers in education through an integrated approach of academic and technical courses.